

JESUS FILM MINISTRIES

NEWS September 2017

We appreciate and covet your prayers for the work here because the call is very demanding and often quite diverse and very interesting.

I traveled to Lukaya on Masaka road yesterday for burial of one of the people who sleep at church (the little church with a big number of people who were previously on the street). The road to the village was quite bad but we got to the place. When we reached the village, the Catechist who was conducting the burial service handed service to me! So continued from there till the end, prayed for the family and all the mourners after the burial. It also gave me a chance to testify of the love of The Lord and lead a young man, a son of the deceased, to The Lord. It is not the first funeral service. Last year, I was traveling to the burial of a one of those 'insignificant' preachers. While I was still struggling to get to the village, they called to say that I was the one to do the funeral service. We had a beautiful time celebrating the fruitful life of a minister of the gospel.

One time I traveled deep to a village in Mubende district for evangelistic outreach. We went on till about 4am cramped in a very small church building because the rain drove us from the open ground. I was led to my bed in a little room whose door covered just part of the entrance. I had hardly rested when I was woken up to pray for an elderly man who had undergone his 5th surgery and was in very bad health. I went to this little room where he lay looking more dead than alive.

So I asked The Lord to answer just this one prayer "...Lord, if you have ever answered my prayer, please answer this one, heal this man..." I left the village and traveled to Kampala and forgot about it. I later got a report that The Lord actually healed the man and he was perfectly healthy. Amazing but also quite humorous. In village ministry you have to prepare for everything!

I will preach on Sunday. Next week I will join ladies from Macedonian fellowship in Masaka in evangelistic outreach to one of those villages. The following week will be for evangelistic outreach in Seguku, Entebbe Road. I request your prayers.

We appreciate your very, very, kind support. The Lord bless you
