Our Current Need at Adulam: Weekend Staff for the Children's Home

Just as the COVID-19 pandemic has upended life for many of our faithful supporters all over the U.S., life in Ciudad Juárez looks very different now than it did this time last year. Thankfully, all of the children and staff at Adulam remain healthy, and our financial needs continue to be met. With the recent rise in cases in our region, however, we feel it is no longer safe to send the children home each weekend and receive them back at Adulam for the week. This pattern is putting both the kids and staff at a potential risk of infection, and we have made the decision to keep the children at the home 7 days a week until the positivity rates in Juárez and El Paso decrease.

In Other News...

In mid-September, Adulam rehab center graduate Jorge García and his wife, Flory, moved to the town of Guachochi south of Chihuahua to partner with another Adulam graduate, Cesar Torres, in full-time ministry. We appreciate your prayers for this incredible team as they direct a children's home in the town located in the heart of the Sierra Madre mountains. The home at which they serve houses almost exclusively children from the Tarahumara indigenous group, and Cesar, Jorge, and Flory (along with additional volunteers from that ministry) do an amazing job of ministry at the home and in the local community.
