February 2022 Issue

"Thank you for bringing smiles to our faces!!"

Interact, Apple Valley High School, received words from youngsters in Sierra Leone.

Pictured here is the distribution of clothes and school supplies to three community schools by Dr. Alfred Sesay, FASE CEO.

Over 150 school children from two districts benefited from these gifts from Apple Valley High School Interact Club.

Interact has dedicated its international activities to FASE over the past two years. Its partnership with FASE is due to the organization's transparent delivery of its support.

Dr. Sesay attends a community meeting. Women applauded and expressed gratitude for the donations with singing and across the village as they joined the larger community groups under a large mongo tree by the school. On behalf of AVHS and FASE, he received a heartfelt "Thank You" for the donated clothes and school materials.

Appeal!!!!!!

Please consider donating to the school farm project to support the school food program's expansion and sustainability. A school lunch program has been established at Makali Junction Primary School.

The school and community must engage in intensive agricultural operations to support the school lunch program for the long term. They require tools and supplies to expand and scale up their yields. Please help!!

We are told that the enrollment at the school has increased due to our relationship and support for the school.

Best Regards,
Founder, President, and CEO: Alfred B. Sesay, Ph.D.
