

September 2024

Hi Team!

Thanks for being here. Praying you all are blessed today with all the blessings you deserve in Christ.

We did it....crossed the Rockies twice!!!!

I have traveled over 4500 miles and have not had a drop of rain or snow. It has snowed behind me and it has snowed in front of me. There has been no wind to contend with, thank goodness as there have been several areas where wind can be a big issue. Other than my time in Portland (which were the only rain days) I have had sunny conditions and highs in the upper 80's and 90's. Lows have been all over but comfortable.

The experience has given me some great insight into the Man I am in Christ. I've even got notes for a couple great sermons if ever needed.

Hunter has been awesome for a dog who really would rather not travel. He has enjoyed many of the places we have stopped, and the walks/hicks have been some of our best ever.

All of that and more were accomplished with the help of prayers from all of you and I thank you very much for that support. I've have been thanking God for you and the coverage all along.

Prayer requests:

I am looking for direction on what's next. As you may have heard Perry FL. was hit again and that is someplace, I said I would never go back to. Is it my Niniva? Am I going back there?

I'm thinking at this point I'm still coming home for a couple weeks, end of Oct. first of Nov. and would love the weather to hold out and continue to be blessed with sun and warmth as I venture NE.

I'm placing a Larry rock this week while golfing. I would like prayer for the game of a lifetime as I honor Larry.

Safe travels in the weeks ahead that lead to daily encounters of chances to share His story.
