

KIMWANGA WIDOWS PROJECT

Dear Friend,

Thank you for your support over the past few years. You have been introduced to the Kimwanga Widows Project through a North Central University student or their professor Nan Muhovich. I am grateful to have met you this way and been given the opportunity for you to share in the lives of our widows across the ocean.

In Uganda when someone becomes a widow there's no support system. They may lose their land and possessions. The widows in our program have lost means to support themselves.

God called me to care for the widows and I am fully committed to carry out His work. Yet I am aware that I cannot do it alone. I am blessed by each of you who join me in this ministry.

The Kimwanga Widows Project cares for the 84 women with the following services:

- Home visits to 84 homes from the following:
  - Nurse – regularly checks on the health of the widows
  - Social worker – visits the widows while encouraging and listening to them
  - Kimwanga Widows team. It a joint team of strong widows who visit the widows sharing their experiences and how to cope up as widow.
- Bible studies in 9 communities.
- A dairy goat as sustainable income.
- House repairs for safe living.
- Sustainable solar lights.
- Bedding thus bedsheets, blankets and bed to keep the old women from the cold floor keeping them warm through the night.

These essential care services are the heart of our program, providing vital support to widows in need. To sustain these efforts, we raise $3,500 per year and we'd be grateful for your help.

If just six people commit to a monthly gift of $50, our program will be fully funded— ensuring we can continue offering essential care without interruption. Your support would allow us to focus on serving rather than worrying about covering costs.

We will still hold fundraisers for specific needs, like providing a dairy goat to help a widow earn income or a mattress for a widow sleeping on the floor. We know people love to give tangible gifts, and those needs will continue to come up.

Today, we invite you to become a Foundational Supporter. Will you commit to a monthly gift and help sustain this vital work?
