

Strategic Teaming for Global Ministry: North and South Perspectives

Posing wv Linda & Joe

The divine orchestration of God's work often transcends our expectations, revealing powerful opportunities for collaboration. Our experiences at the Anglican Leadership Institute (ALI) illustrate this profound truth. In 2023, a foundational connection was forged in Martha's Vineyard, Massachusetts, uniting individuals like Linda

I, Liz, Shelly & Paige

Prince (Va), Josephine (Kenya), Shelly (Tx), Paige (Sc), and Emily & I (Uganda-Rwanda) around shared Christian leadership principles.

Remarkably, these paths converged again in 2024 at an ALI event in Cairo. This providential reunion ignited a clear vision: to expand God's Kingdom through intentional, collaborative ministry.

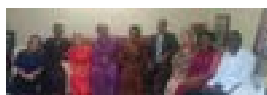

One of the five groups

Following a season of dedicated prayer and diligent planning, this vision bore fruit. This past November, we successfully hosted a transformative conference gathering 286 women from diverse regions across the Anglican Diocese of Mukono. This powerful event underscored the immense potential when different cultures and perspectives unite under a common spiritual purpose. Training, sharing, prayers, and distribution of local bibles were given to every participants, thank God for the provision.

Time with the Bishop

The critical question now emerges: How can we systematically foster and replicate these vital cross-cultural partnerships for sustained global outreach? Our experience has shown that when diverse teams from the Global North and South converge, our differences do not divide but instead become fertile ground for mutual learning and enriched understanding. The true unifying force is the manifestation of the Holy Spirit's fruits, allowing us to transcend cultural nuances and work cohesively towards shared kingdom objectives.

Our next phase involves enrolling our trainees in para-counseling sessions to provide essential support to their local communities. We appreciate your continued prayers for this mission.
