Bishal Thapa finds hope to stay in the community he belongs to.

In Nepal, we have beautiful mountains and are blessed with natural resources. We praise God for his blessings, and his creation work.

On the other hand, Nepal is suffering from several bad forces like political instability, extreme and traditional Hindu ideology of life, family, society, and education that is based on TANRTA MANTRA more than research and discovery. Mission-organization led churches are developing, and viewing themselves as a sophisticated, and spiritually up to date entity. Local churches are viewing themselves as a victim from government and neighbors, and have financial, theological constraint.

In this broader context, Full Life Training Center enters to help church youth and youth from outside the church to get involved in agriculture, economics, and short-term trainings. Bishal Thapa, who is just 18 years old, once came to Kathmandu and worked as butcher man and now has begun piggery mini farm as an entrepreneur. Our prayer is that he will flourish in what he does, stay in the community he belongs, and serve the community with his gifts and talents. This is what we want in our community in Gorkha.

Join us with prayer and financial support to multiply youths like Bishal. Thank you.
